

Students from across the country have descended onto the Dillard University campus for the week of May 6, 2012 for the New York Times Student Journalism Institute.

Read the students' work here...