

Dillard University welcomes a large group of students from Brazil for the next three semesters under the HBCU-Brazil Alliance. The alliance, established by the federal government, seeks to increase cooperation in STEM disciplines between Brazilian universities and historically Black colleges and universities in the United States.

Dr. Kimya Dawson-Smith in the Office of International Students & Study Abroad Programs has spearheaded the program.

Read more about in the Journal of Blacks in Higher Education...

and on WDSU...&nbsp;

in the Diverse Issues in Higher Education...

---